ALMA MATER

TOVEY

*Pure as the dawn on the brow of thy beauty
Watches thy soul from the Mountains of God
Over the fates of thy children departed
Far from the land where their footsteps have trod
Beacon of hope in thy ways dreary lighted
Pride of our hearts that are loyal and true;
From those who adore unto one who adores us,
Mother of Mothers, we sing unto you. —Brodie Payne*

NOTES ON CEREMONY

The Mace and Batons

These symbols of the authority and history of the University are made from newel posts from the original main staircase of Old Main, the oldest University building. They are carried by members of the faculty who have served as chairpersons of the University Senate or Campus Faculty. The Chief Marshal (macebearer) is the current chairperson of the Campus Faculty.

Marshal's Gowns

The gowns worn by the marshals are of the traditional University color, Cardinal Red.

Honor Stoles

White or cardinal stoles denote students who are candidates for University-wide honors. White represents High Honors (summa cum laude) and Cardinal represents Honors (cum laude).

Academic Regalia

The styles of gowns differentiate degree level. Trim on doctoral gowns indicates nature of the degree (black or dark blue—Ph.D.; light blue—Ed.D). The trim on all hoods identifies degree field. Lining of hoods denotes the color(s) of the institution awarding the degree. Certain members of the faculty wear distinctive gowns and hoods authorized by their doctoral institution.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Honorary Degree Commendation

Robert D. Maurer

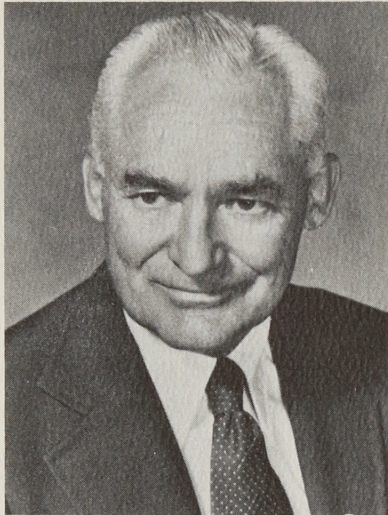

Dr. Robert D. Maurer is an internationally recognized physicist who has helped revolutionize the field of optical telecommunications. His research on the physical properties of glasses led to the discovery and understanding of materials and techniques for the fabrication of glass fiber optic waveguides. Optical telecommunications have become a reality because of the development of low cost glass fiber optics which allow information, including voice communication, to be transmitted by light pulses rather than the electrical signals over the more expensive copper conductors. It was the research done by Dr. Maurer which has brought this technology to its present sophisticated state of development.

He has been honored by a number of prestigious awards, including the J.M. Ericsson International Prize for Telecommunications; the Morris N. Liebmann Award from the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers; the George W. Morey Award from the American Ceramic Society, and the Prize for Industrial Physics from the American Institute of Physics, the first such prize ever awarded by the A.I.P.

Dr. Maurer received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Arkansas and his Ph.D. in Physics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He began his professional career in 1951 as a member of the MIT staff. He became a physicist for the Corning Glass Works in 1952 and successively has been promoted to Manager of Applied Physics Research and Manager of Special Projects. He currently holds the title of Research Fellow for the Corning Corporation.

Dr. Maurer has authored more than 30 technical publications and scientific papers. He has obtained two patents, including the key optical waveguide patents now in use.

Honorary Degree Commendation

Samuel Moore Walton

Samuel Moore Walton is a builder — of education, of business, and of the general society. He has blended his innovative mastery of business and financial enterprises with a deep and concerned interest in the current status and future potential of all levels of education in this state and the Southwest region. The Walton Foundation Scholarship for High School Graduates was established in his name. He is a major contributor to the programs of teaching and research in this university's College of Business Administration, and he is a member of the Board of Trustees of the College of the Ozarks at Clarksville, Arkansas. He is a founding member of the University of Arkansas Development Council.

Mr. Walton is widely respected for the creativity and integrity he has maintained in the business activity of the state and the nation. He has been named Man of the Year by the publication Retail Week, and his colleagues throughout the country selected him as Man of the Year in the field of discount retailing in 1979. He is a member of the Board and of the Executive Committee of the National Mass Retailing Institute.

Mr. Walton serves as a member of the Governor's Management Advisory Task Force and in leadership capacities for various civic and public affairs activities.

His brilliant leadership in retailing has helped bring to rural and small-town America a higher standard of living through the availability of mass-produced, low-cost merchandise. Prior to his entry into business, such department stores as those he originated were mainly restricted to urban centers, preventing the people in lower population areas from enjoying the benefits of the nation's mass production and distribution systems. Starting with a single small store in Arkansas in 1945, Mr. Walton has developed a retail organization with more than 270 outlets in 11 states, with some 60 new stores being established every year. By 1984, the projected sales volume from these stores will exceed three billion dollars.

Distinguished Alumnus Citation

Wiley Austin Branton

Wiley Austin Branton is the architect of one of the most significant edifices in the civil rights movements of the 20th Century. To him as to no other individual must go the credit for guaranteeing the voting franchise to the black members of the American citizenry.

It was in 1962 that Dr. Martin Luther King, Roy Wilkins and the late Whitney Young, Jr. reached the unanimous agreement that Mr. Branton should direct the Voter Education Project, a cooperative effort that led to the registration of more than 600,000 black voters in eleven Southern states.

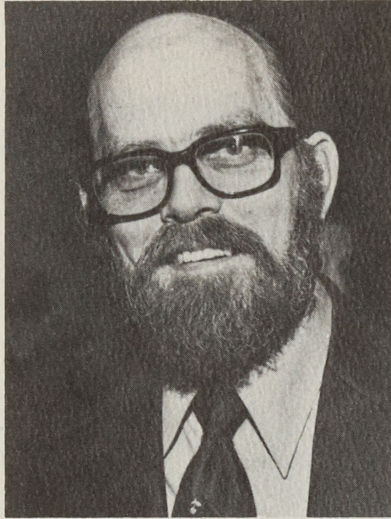

It was, moreover, only one of many major contributions this noted Arkansan has made to national and worldwide efforts to achieve man's greater humanity to man. He was the chief counsel for the black plaintiffs in the court actions attending the Little Rock public school crisis of the 1950's. He served as Executive Secretary of President Lyndon Johnson's Council on Equal Opportunity which was chaired by the late Hubert Humphrey and was comprised of most of the President's cabinet members and heads of major federal agencies. He served as Executive Director of the United Civil Rights Leadership organized in New York City, and he has received a number of citations and awards for his civil rights activities.

Mr. Branton was once named as one of the 100 most important young men and women in the United States in a survey made by Life magazine. He also has been honored as one of the 100 most influential black leaders in the nation.

In other fields of service, Mr. Branton directed the social action program of the Alliance for Labor Action, a joint program of the United Auto Workers and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and was named a special assistant to two former Attorneys General of the United States.

A graduate of Arkansas A.M. and N. College (now University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff) and of the University of Arkansas School of Law, Mr. Branton is culminating his distinguished career with service to higher education, holding the position of Dean of the School of Law at Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Distinguished Alumnus Citation

Miller Williams

If one were to look for the qualities of a "Renaissance Man" in the 20th Century, he could find them at the University of Arkansas in the person of Miller Williams. Like the distinguished humanists and scientists of the cinquecento, Professor Williams' creative interests cover a broad range of intellectual inquiry and expression. A college-level teacher in the life sciences for ten years, he later became internationally recognized as a man of letters. The Prix de Rome for literature, one of the most coveted of awards, was conferred upon him for his achievements in poetry. The American Academy of Arts and Letters had not conferred it for 14 years when, in 1976, the members of the Academy made Miller Williams the only Arkansan ever to receive the award.

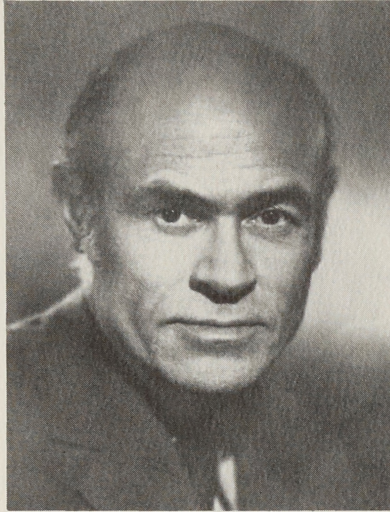

He is the winner of such other awards as the Henry Bellaman Poetry Prize, the Amy Lowell Award for Poetry from Harvard University, and the New York Arts Fund Award for Significant Contribution to American Letters. He is a Distinguished Fellow of the American Academy in Rome.

Professor Williams is perhaps unexcelled in this country as a translator of literature and as a teacher of the demanding profession of translation. He is the American translator of the Chilean poet Nicanor Parra and the Italian poet G.G. Belli, and has translated many other works from Spanish, Italian, German and French.

He was the founding editor of one of the nation's outstanding literary journals, The New Orleans Review. He served as Visiting Professor of American Literature at the University of Chile and as Fulbright Professor of American Studies at the University of Mexico. For seven years he was a member of the poetry faculty at the prestigious Bread Loaf Writers Conference.

Professor Williams has served as advisor to the President's Task Force on the Education, Training and Development of Professional Artists and Art Educators. He represented the State Department on reading and lecturing tours throughout Latin America, Europe and the Middle and Far East. He has authored 17 books, including literary criticism, translations and poetry, as well as major textbooks and anthologies. Five books will be published during the coming year. In addition to his duties as Professor of English and Foreign Languages at the University of Arkansas, he is co-director of the Creative Writing Program and Director of the Program in Translation and Chairman of the Program in Comparative Literature. He is national president of the American Literary Translators Association, and Latin American Editor for The Reader's Encyclopedia.

Commencement Speaker

Bill Monroe

Bill Monroe has been the executive producer for television's award winning news program, "Meet the Press," since 1975. He succeeded the founder of the program, Lawrence Spivak, and was hand-picked by him when Mr. Spivak retired.

Monroe, who had served as moderator for the program for several years previously, had earned a reputation as one of the most highly regarded journalists in Washington for his work on "Meet the Press," and as Washington editor of the "Today" show.

Monroe is a native of New Orleans and a 1942 graduate of Tulane University, where he was admitted to Phi Beta Kappa. He joined NBC in 1961 as Washington Bureau chief after working for several years as a newspaperman and as a radio and television newsman in New Orleans.
